Digital Dispatch Strengthens Sales with Existing Customers

Richmond, BC, January 15, 2007 – Digital Dispatch (TSX: DD), a leading global provider of mobile data solutions, is pleased to announce additional sales for mobile data terminals, computers and related services of approximately $1.6 Million to the Company's existing customers, MinuteMen of New York and a customer located in Australia. A portion of these sales were delivered in 2006.

MinuteMen, which was Digital Dispatch's first New York customer, has chosen to install Digital Dispatch's iPilot 8000™, complete with mapping and Digital Dispatch's SmartPrint mobile printer. It is installing the system as an upgrade to its current system which includes KST 260™ mobile data terminals. MinuteMen bought 300 units to accommodate its large fleet of black cars.

"We chose to upgrade our Digital Dispatch equipment to take advantage of the advanced technology," stated Tom Cappiello, President for MinuteMen. "The touchscreen mobile data computer with mapping solution will enhance our operation's efficiency by providing real-time location information. This will ensure effective dispatching with a faster response time to calls; greatly improving customer satisfaction."

Digital Dispatch's Australian customer has ordered several products, including the iPilot 8000™ and a variety of miscellaneous items, as an add-on order to their current system that was purchased in September 2006. The Company, which is growing daily, purchased the equipment in response to the rapid expansion of its existing fleet.

"We are very happy that Digital Dispatch is able to provide a technologically-advanced solution for our customers," commented Cliff Snelling, Vice President of Marketing. "Digital Dispatch is especially pleased to see that our products are aiding the development and growth of the Company's current customers. We look forward to helping them achieve their business goals for years to come."

The two orders not only fortify sales for Digital Dispatch, but further validate the Company's position in both the North American and Australian taxi markets.
