Town Car Chooses Digital Dispatch

Richmond, BC, July 6, 2006 – Extending its winning streak in multiple vertical markets over the last few weeks, Digital Dispatch Systems Inc. (TSX: DD) has been chosen by the leading black car company, Town Car International of Long Island City, New York, to provide iPilot 8000™ mobile computers working over a public data network to its fleet of nearly 400 vehicles.

"Our state-of-the-art technology is what sets us apart in our industry and enables us to consistently deliver on our claim of being Corporate America's Worldwide Ground Transportation Solution," said Russ Cooke, President and CEO of Town Car. "With potential acquisitions in the near future, we are in an expansion mode worldwide and the new system will play a critical role in enabling us to scale our business."

"It is very important that we provide our customers with the most recent technology available", said Mark Susmin, Director of Sales for Town Car. "Digital Dispatch's system will allow us to have GPS in all of our vehicles. Drivers will have a navigation system and our dispatchers will be able to see the exact location of a vehicle as well as track the ride.

"Passengers will be able to swipe their credit cards through the mobile computer and get a printed receipt for their rides. As we continue to build on this technology, the Digital Dispatch system will eventually enable us to provide our customers with a complete 'in-car solution'," Mark explained. Town Car will be exhibiting its technology and services at the NBTA 2006 International Convention & Exposition, July 16-19, in Chicago, Illinois.

"We are thrilled to be selected by an industry leader like Town Car and welcome them as our customer," said Ken Holland, Sales Manager for North American for Digital Dispatch. "It is always satisfying to be validated by other industry leaders. We look forward to a strong partnership with Town Car."

Yellow Cab Company of Bloomfield, Connecticut, another existing Digital Dispatch customer has also placed orders for additional mobile computers. The two orders are worth well over $1 million.
